Thanks to Teachers
An Odd Bird

Paul H. Jones, our general manager and managing editor, entered Hempstead Memorial Hospital at 8 this morning for treatment of what is believed to be pneumonia. Dr. Forney Holt is making X-rays, and Paul is under oxygen. We'll keep you posted.

Just for the record, on your editor's complaint last Monday that the Hope Education Association slighted the hometown press when it released its demands on the Hope School Board by mail last Friday night, too late for local papers which go to press early Saturday and thereby favoring the big Sunday papers, I have received an apology from Mrs. Marion Robertson, president.

She told me no slight was intended—the teachers simply didn't understand the significance of the week-end mailing.

Thanks. No afternoon paper likes Saturday morning mail, obviously pointed for the big Sunday press. But few people, including teachers, understand newspaper deadlines, so this incident will be helpful in the future.

The Star rolls at 9 a.m. Saturday, to get a losing proposition out of the way as fast as possible—and judging from the inquiries from other evening dailies our schedule is now being followed by most of the small-city evening locals.

A newspaper item is supposed to clear up confusion—but this one only compounds confusion.

Mrs. C. E. Whitten, of Old DeAnn Road, telephoned me this morning to get identification of a strange bird sighted around her house.

She said it was about the size of a crow, and was colored red, white, and green.

That drew a blank for your editor, but I had Billy Dan Jones, mechanical superintendent and local wildlife authority, get on the 'phone and hear her story. "Now about this bird," Bill said after listening to the description, "do you have any water close by—a big pond or such."

"No," replied Mrs. Whitten. "Bill thought for a moment, then shook his head. 'I quit,' he said.

I had quit earlier. However, I told Mrs. Whitten a color photograph would be helpful—but that question didn't help either.

14 Youths Held for Narcotics

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Fourteen White County youths were charged here today with narcotics violations.

Prosecutor Gene Raff filed felony charges of unlawfully possessing mescaline with intent to distribute against Harry Shooke, 17, and Patty Shooke, 18, both of McRae.

Misdemeanor charges of simple possession of mescaline were filed against the others, who ranged in age from 15 to 23. They were arrested throughout the county.

Environment Agencies Are Readied

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Council on Environmental Quality readied for use today new regulations requiring federal agencies to disclose the environmental impact of their proposal 90 days before putting them into effect.

The new guidelines give the public a ringside seat as federal decisions affecting the environment are debated among executive agencies and before final decisions are reached.

S. S. Benefit Hike Cleared by Panel

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved automatic cost-of-living increases as part of a Social Security overhaul that also would improve benefits for widows and extend Medicare to the disabled.

Other changes voted by the committee Tuesday would revise Medicare to cost patients more for short illnesses, but less for very prolonged ones.

The changes in the Social Security cash benefit schedule alone would cost an estimated $1.5 billion a year, with the total bill for the package still unestimated.

Committee spokesmen said a payroll tax increase, still to be computed, is inevitable and that if the cost is too high, some revisions may have to be reconsidered.

The changes were approved for inclusion in the committee's combined Social Security-welfare reform bill.

The proposals, potentially affecting more than 26 million persons, include:

—An automatic increase in benefits when the cost of living rises 3 per cent in a year, with an accompanying tax increase.

—An increase from $1,680 to $2,000 in the amount a pensioner may earn without pension reduction.

—Bigger benefits for widows.

—Higher ultimate benefits for those choosing to work beyond 65.

—Bigger benefits for persons quitting work before retirement age but intending to draw their benefits later.

—A higher minimum monthly benefit for persons long employed in covered jobs. The minimum benefit of $70.40 could be as high as $150 a month for one who worked 30 years.

—A better break for certain working couples who now draw less than a couple whose equivalent income was earned by just the husband.

—Medicare eligibility for the disabled after 24 months of retirement.

—A freeze on the Medicare premium charged for a doctor's services. Future increases would be allowed only in proportion to increases in basic Social Security benefits.

—A readjustment of Medicare hospital benefits, costing more for persons hospitalized from 30 to 60 days, but providing more coverage for very long illness.

You Can Expect More Unrest for Teachers, Declares AEA Head

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — "You're going to see more and more classroom teachers more vocal, asking for more benefits, becoming more active," says C. Ray Baker, president of the Arkansas Education Association.

Teachers, he says, are "awaking from a long sleep," and his complaint is that the AEA administrative leadership is not listening to them.

The Fort Smith teacher and James H. O' Cain of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Classroom Teachers Association, have been critical of Forrest Rozzell, longtime chief administrator, for not consulting enough with the 18,000 teacher members of the teachers' professional organization.

"We're not saying he has not done a good job," Baker said of Rozzell. "But times have changed and more people have not been involved."

His comments brought into the open what they claim is a growing dissatisfaction with the AEA administration.

They also question the effectiveness of the AEA leadership and suggest that the organization could be molded into a

Cowboy Pattern of Frontier Justice May Be Returning

By DAVID GOELLER
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — A psychiatrist says continued acceptance by many Americans of the violence-filled legend of the cowboy may provide a blueprint for frontier justice in today's society.

"The cowboy legend assumes that violence can be controlled by the use of violence," says Dr. Kent E. Robinson, director of outpatient services at Sheppard and Enoch Pratt Hospital.

Robinson, in a scientific paper released Tuesday, noted that the image of the white-hatted folk hero is perpetuated by movie and television stories that sometimes bear little relation to actual events and are saturated with violent, aggressive themes.

"The hero and villain alike are allowed equally free rein in the expression of aggression, although of course the hero's aggression is good and constructive while the villain's aggression is always bad and destructive," he said.

His paper is to be presented

Vet Groups Stand Pat as Anti-War

By TOM SEPPY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vietnam veterans demonstrating against the war made sorties today against the Pentagon, Supreme Court and Justice Department.

Meanwhile they vowed to hold on to their camp grounds on the Mall despite an order by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger banning their use of the grounds.

At the Capitol, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., tried to put the Senate on record as favoring the use of the Mall by the veterans. However, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., blocked immediate action.

Also, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., urged that the administration not exercise its right to forbid use of the Mall, the grassy area between the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial.

About 60 former GI's marched three and four abreast across the 14th St. bridge to the Pentagon where they "confessed" to committing war crimes.

May 7 in Washington at the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

Robinson uses as a prime example in his paper the romanticized picture of Wyatt Earp, the man credited with taming the frontier jungle of Dodge City, Kan., in the 1870s.

He said that while movies and television have depicted Earp risking his life to make the West safe for 19th century middle America, the fact was that in the 40 months he was marshal of Dodge City he killed only one man and was never wounded.

The psychiatrist said that rather than simply being a kindly knight errant in buckskin and boots, Earp was more strongly motivated by the $2.50 bounty paid for each arrest and conviction under Dodge City's law forbidding the wearing or discharging of firearms.

He wrote that Americans today generally subscribe to the legend rather than the facts of such heroes as Earp as a basis for "law and order morality."

Bengalis Seek Freedom From Pakistan

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI (AP) — In Karachi, it's not even a war. In New Delhi, it's an epic struggle that is giving birth to a nation.

The Pakistanis in their capital and the Indians in theirs are talking about the same thing—75 million Bengalis in East Pakistan striving for an independent republic they call Bangla Desh, the Bengali Nation.

The Gulf of opinion and information is far wider than the 700 miles of desert and scrub that separate sweltering Karachi from New Delhi, cool after spring rains.

The West Pakistanis are repeatedly told by their newspapers and their government radio network that their troublesome province on the eastern side of India is returning to "normalcy" and that the West Pakistani army is routing "miscreants and antistate elements." It always sounds like a simple police action, although it continues day after day.

The men the West Pakistanis call miscreants are the same ones the Indians call freedom fighters.

Big Barbecue Set for Festival

Some 5,000 people may be licking their fingers after sampling the barbecue chicken at the Southwest Arkansas Poultry Festival in Nashville May 29.

Nashville Jaycees, in charge of the feeding, will use up to 1300 tender broilers, a ton of charcoal and one of the largest barbecue pits ever assembled in this part of the south.

The Saturday festival will include several events and contests all day long, with the feed to begin at 8:00 p.m. at the Scrapper Stadium, and a program to start at 8:00 p.m.

The program is slated to be a comic take-off on the television hit, "Hee-Haw", a beauty contest, and the antics of program encee Pedie Gathright.

Other events during the day will include a Poultry Cookin' Contest, a 4-H Barbecue Contest, and a Chick 'N Que Contest, plus receptions and judgments for the beauty contestants. One or more Nashville-based poultry industries may hold an open house.

Door prizes for the festival will be a Lazy-Boy rocker and an 8-track tape player.

The festival will be the first to be held in the new Scrapper Stadium, adjoining the high school north of the city.

Tickets to the festival will be available soon in this area.

Abortion Ban in D. C. Is Upheld

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ruling for the first time on an abortion law, the Supreme Court today upheld prosecution of doctors in the District of Columbia but authorized them to end pregnancies for the sake of the expectant mother's "mental health."

The split decision also made prosecution more difficult by reading the turn-of-the-century abortion law for the District as requiring the government to prove the abortion was not for therapeutic reasons.

The decision dismissed claims that the law was so vaguely written it could not be understood by doctors.

In other actions today, the court:

—Ruled that a conscientious objector to the draft must declare his claim before he receives his induction notice.

—Held that the United States may turn away refugees fleeing Communist countries if they settle temporarily in another country on this way.

It was on "vagueness" grounds that a federal judge here, Gerhard A. Gesell, ruled the 1901 abortion law unconstitutional in 1969 while dismissing an indictment against a physician who operates a clinic three blocks from the White House.

Justice Hugo L. Black, speaking for the court, said the term "health" in the statute is neither imprecise nor uncertain.

Under the law, written by Congress, doctors may not perform abortions "unless the same were done as necessary for the preservation of the mother's life or health."

Adult Classes at Blevins

The Home Economics department of Blevins will begin Adult classes Monday, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. This year's area of consideration will be clothing construction. You are invited to bring something to construct that will be a challenge to you.

Special consideration will be given to; hemming knits, hand sewn zippers in knits, and foundation garment construction.

There will be four meetings. Other dates besides April 26 are Monday, May 3, Monday, May 10, Monday, May 17. Each class is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. and end at 9:00 p.m.

Everyone is encouraged to attend. We will exchange construction techniques and enjoy the company of others present. A break is planned at midpoint of the evening.

McClellan to Dedicate New Facility

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., will be the principal speaker May 29 when the $5.5 million Arkansas Services Center is dedicated at Jonesboro.

The center will be a 100-bed regional mental health center of the State Hospital and also will include a 54-bed Rehabilitation Service facility. Other agencies to occupy space in the center are the state Health Department, Welfare Department, Civil Defense, State Police and Arkansas State University.

Joe N. Martin of Jonesboro, chairman of the dedication committee, said Gov. Dale Bumpers, legislators and other state officials also would attend.

Crow Graduation at 7:30 April 26

The Adult Basic Education Class will present their graduation exercises in the Clow Community, Ozan, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited. The guest speaker will be Caleb Brunson of Blevins.

Blacks Converge on L.R. June 21-26 With No Placeto Put Up

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Up to 15,000 Negroes are expected here June 21-26 for a church convention, but for thousands there will be no room at the inns.

In this onetime symbol of defiance to school desegregation, success may hinge on the willingness of whites to take blacks into their homes for the convention period.

The visitors, expected from 48 states, will be part of the 66th annual National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc., which, with 7.5 million members, is the world's largest Negro Baptist conference.

Charles E. Rixse of the city Convention Bureau said the Baptists need 6,000 guest rooms, but all of the surrounding county have no more than 2,500 first-class accommodations.

With about 1,500 rooms committed already to the convention during a peak tourist season, there is little more that commercial accommodations can reasonably provide, he said.

The Rev. Charles B. Knox Jr., Negro pastor of Canaan Missionary Baptist Church, which will be convention headquarters, said space in private residences of blacks and whites is essential.

The campaign to solicit such space has not yet begun, he said.

Desegregation Finger Now Points to North

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court may have opened the door in its busing decisions to a possible line of attack on school desegregation in the North.

Northern schools generally have been free from successful court attack on the grounds their segregation is accidental—or de facto—resulting from neighborhood population patterns and not from laws-de jure.

While the court in its series of busing decisions Tuesday said it was not getting into the de facto area, it did open the way for interpretation that some Northern segregation may be de jure rather than de facto.

When school districts plead de facto they say their schools are segregated because the neighborhood is segregated. But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said Tuesday school boards may be responsible for creating the segregated neighborhoods.

This can occur, Burger said by the decisions a school board makes in locating new schools and closing old ones. He alerted federal judges to watch for construction of new schools in expanding white suburbs with the intent of attracting white families from the inner city.

The court said in 1965 a "grade-a-year" desegregation approach used by Fort Smith, Ark., was no longer acceptable and in 1968 ruled "freedom of choice" school plans were inadequate if they did not bring about sufficient integration.

"We're trying to make it as successful as possible," he said, adding that the convention bureau would do what it could to help round up accommodations in private homes once Knox signals the start of the drive for residential space.

Bus Ruling Traces Back to 1954

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's unanimous decision approving massive busing to achieve school desegregation is the court's latest landmark in 17 years of segregation-scuttling rulings.

Tuesday's 9-0 ruling traces back to May 17, 1954, when another unanimous high court decision ordered public schools desegregated "with all deliberate speed."

A year later, the court set down its first guidelines. It said federal courts should require "a prompt and reasonable start toward full compliance." A total of 17 states required segregation by law and another four had laws sanctioning it.

The high court set no deadline and said "once such a start has been made, the courts may find that additional time is necessary to carry out the rulings in an effective manner."

In 1958 the court said fear of violence that attended desegregation in Little Rock, Ark., was not reason to delay action. Then the court ruled against "evasive schemes" to avoid delay desegregation and in 1960 upheld lower courts that decided some school districts had had enough time to get desegregation plans under way.

In 1963, the court, ruling in a Memphis, Tenn., park desegregation case, said it had "never contemplated that the concept of 'deliberate speed' would countenance indefinite delay in the elimination of racial barriers . . ."

By the next year the court declared, "The time for 'deliberate speed' had run out" and ruled Prince Edward County, Va., could not close its schools to escape desegregation.

The court said in 1965 a "grade-a-year" desegregation approach used by Fort Smith, Ark., was no longer acceptable and in 1968 ruled "freedom of choice" school plans were inadequate if they did not bring about sufficient integration.

Schools May Suffer From Bus Ruling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Civil rights lawyers in Arkansas hailed Tuesday's U.S. Supreme Court decision on busing, but some school officials and politicians were highly critical.

Supporters of school desegregation called the decision a landmark, while opponents indicated education would be harmed.

Charles Bernard of Earle, chairman of the state Republican party, said Arkansans should abide by the interpretations of the high court.

The court, in an opinion written by Chief Justice Warren Burger, said courts may order busing as one means of eliminating segregated schools.

Attorneys John W. Walker and Philip E. Kaplan of Little Rock, who frequently represent plaintiffs in school cases, called the verdict as a clear requirement for a change in some plans.

Walker and Kaplan, in a joint statement, said the decision would require changes in the desegregation plans of the Little Rock, North Little Rock and Pulaski County school districts, and mean at least the following:

"1. The neighborhood school theory has been exposed for what it is — a device to segregate the races.

"2. The white-flight argument has been permanently buried as a legal deterrent to meaningful desegregation.

"3. School districts cannot place the burden of desegregation solely on the black and the poor.

"4. Our districts can no longer build schools in anticipation of population movement with a result to encourage resegregation.

"5. Any acceptable plan must be implemented by September at the absolute latest."

Charles A. Brown, attorney for the Little Rock School Board, said the opinion was "another muddy decision."

Brown said it appeared to him that district courts and appeals courts would have to determine in each case individually "how much desegregation is desegregation."

"On the face, it looks like the court will be in the position of a super school board, making the decisions on educational matters," Brown said.

At Harrison, former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, governor during the Little Rock Central High School integration crisis, said the ruling was another case of usurpation by the Supreme Court of the powers of Congress. He said every place busing had been tried there had been a setback in education.

Dr. Mitchell Young of Texarkana, national president of Unified Concerned Citizens of America, an organization that supports neighborhood schools and is opposed to "forced integration," said the ruling "will mean the end of the public school system in America as we know it."

"The people who place quality education above social experimentation are going to go to private schools, Young said.

Civil Rights Men Critical of Nixon

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's enlargement of the government's Southern school desegregation powers comes at a time the Nixon administration stands accused of under utilizing available anti-discrimination weapons.

The high court Tuesday approved busing for further dismantling of dual school systems once common in the South.

But civil rights organizations contend the administration has failed to broadly challenge new forms of discrimination against black teachers and students.

The government has drastically curtailed use of aid terminations in particular, say such groups as the Leadership Council for Civil Rights and the Southern Regional Council.

Interviews with civil rights officials in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Justice Department indicated indecision about new steps to cope with the discrimination and resegregation reportedly developing in many Southern schools.

Several remedies, for example, are being considered at HEW.

Secretary Elliot L. Richardson has approved a memorandum defining for the first time all the practices the government considers discriminatory and subject to prosecution. But the directive to Southern school officials has not been sent because, as one official put it, "it might be criticized as too little, too late."

Nevertheless, the administration has in recent months stepped up prosecution of such practices as classroom segregation, discrimination in extracurricular activities, and firing of black teachers and principals.

HEW last month began enforcement proceedings against three Southern districts that could bring losses of federal aid. These were HEW's first so-called Title VI actions of the school year, and contrasted to an average of about 100 annually in each of the past two academic years.

The Justice Department has filed 42 court actions this school year dealing with so-called in-school segregation and discrimination in the South. More than half of these motions, 22, came in the past three months.

In addition, HEW has begun enforcement against 40 Southern districts receiving portions of the $75 million emergency desegregation fund. Only one of these districts has lost its money, however, and the bulk of alleged violations involve record keeping and the appointment of advisory groups.

Nol Asked to Stay on in Cambodia

By ROBIN MANNOCK
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH (AP) — Gen. Lon Nol was asked formally today to stay on as Cambodia's premier and sources close to him said he would agree.

The request came from the chief of state, Cheng Heng, who asked that Lon Nol form a new Cabinet as well.

The premier resigned Tuesday, saying he was in ill health. He suffered a stroke in February and recovered only partially during two months of treatment in a U.S. hospital in Hawaii.

Cheng Heng asked him to stay on after accepting his resignation "with regret."

The chief of state said he decided to ask the general to resume his duties as premier because of the "grave events through which our country is passing."

Cheng Heng reported that he consulted with Brig. Gen. In Tam, president of the National Assembly, and Ung Sim, president of the Senate, before making his formal request to Lon Nol in a letter.

In Tam said a formal reply to the letter was still awaited from Lon Nol.

Earlier in the day, In Tam and Ung Sim told a joint session of the National Assembly and the Senate that Cheng Heng had asked them to urge Lon Nol to form a new government. But they said the general was too ill to see them.

Ky Favors Fixing Date to Withdraw

JERUSALEM (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam was quoted by a U.S. congressman today as saying he favored a fixed date for American withdrawal from Vietnam—"The end of 1972 or better, perhaps 1973."

Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., who arrived here today on a global fact-finding tour, said he had an hour-long talk with Ky in Saigon last week.

Ky's surprise statement on withdrawal was seen by some officials in Saigon as another step in his bid for the presidency, Halpern said in an interview.

Halpern said Ky told him he thought a fixed date for American withdrawal would be a "good thing."

"Too many Vietnamese have been too reliant on the United States' presence and assistance for too long," Ky was quoted as saying, "thus weakening our own incentives and initiatives."

C.O. Must Declare Self Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a conscientious objector to the draft must declare his claim before he receives his induction notice.

In a 6 to 3 decision, the court heeded the government's complaint that late-blooming claims for conscientious objector status had become a serious problem for draft boards.

The majority said it was all right for draft boards to refuse to re-open a registrant's classification after notice of induction has been sent if the inductee has adequate chance to press his conscientious objector claim after he enters the service.

"A regulation explicitly providing that no conscientious objector claim could be considered by a local board unless filed before the mailing of an induction notice would, we think, be perfectly valid, provided that no inductee could be ordered to combatant training or service before a prompt, fair and proper in-service determination of his claim," Justice Potter Stewart wrote for the majority.

"The system needs and has the power to make reasonable timeliness rules for the presentation of claims to exemption from service," the court said.

Democrat said the outcome and the Southerners' votes probably would be different on final consideration this afternoon.

"I think they voted against tabling today to point up the hypocrisy of the Northern liberals, to force them to vote on my amendment up or down," Ribicoff said.

Ribicoff said his amendment's ultimate chances may have been improved by Tuesday's Supreme Court rulings authorizing busing of pupils to bring about school integration.

The rulings help his amendment, Ribicoff said, by appearing to sanction racial quota provisions, such as are included in his proposal.

The amendment added was to a Nixon administration bill authorizing $1.5 billion to help states desegregate schools.

Chinese Are Invited to Play in U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association says Communist Chinese table tennis players have accepted an invitation to visit the United States "in the near future" and he will discuss the invitation today with President Nixon.

Graham Steenhoven, president of the association and leader of the 15-member U.S. table tennis team that toured Communist China last week, disclosed Tuesday at a news conference that the invitation was made when his group arrived in China. The visit was the first by an American group since 1949.

Steenhoven said Song Chung, acting president of the Chinese Table Tennis Association, accepted the invitation before the Americans left the country last week but gave him the option of when to announce it.

Steenhoven said he had received assurance of visa approval from U.S. Embassy officials in Tokyo earlier for the Chinese visit, but that no dates or schedules had been set.

Steenhoven said the visit probably would come within 12 months. A spokesman for the U.S. State Department, who confirmed that the visit had been approved, said the Chinese team might arrive next March.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Tuesday the President would ask Steenhoven about his impressions of the Chinese trip and the Chinese acceptance of the reciprocal invitation.

Ziegler said the administration would welcome the Chinese team and expedite visas.

Steenhoven said the costs of playing host to the Chinese team would be borne by private sources.

"We want no government connection," he said, adding that he is more interested in promoting his sport than in its political ramifications.

24 Die in Big Bangkok Hotel Fire

BANGKOK (AP) — At least 13 Americans were among 24 persons killed in the fire at the Imperial Hotel early Tuesday, officials said today. They included families of three American servicemen.

Among the dead were the wife and three children of Lt. Col. Herbert Matsuo of Honolulu—Wanda, 12, Michael, 13, and Lawrence, 9. The colonel was in an Army hospital at the time of the fire, and another son, 11-year-old Wayne, escaped from the hotel and was in good condition at an Army hospital today, the U.S. Embassy said.

The embassy said names of the victims in the two other service families were being withheld until their next of kin were notified.

Thai police added the names of two more dead Americans: Gerald Farrow of New Jersey, and Lloyd Kagle, no home address available.

According to the police list, the other dead included Egyptian and Chinese airline crew members, a German tourist and two Thais.

Four bodies had not been identified.

The fire broke out about 4 a.m. Tuesday after an explosion in the ground-floor coffee shop and it burned out one wing of the downtown hotel.

White House Asks Bus Rule Be Obeyed

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Trumped by the Supreme Court, the White House has called on the American people to obey the ruling that mass busing is a legitimate means to desegregate public schools.

"The Supreme Court has acted and their decision is now the law of the land and up to the people to obey," said presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler Tuesday after consulting with administration lawyers.

Ziegler said nothing would be served by reviewing past statements by the President. His legal views were largely turned back by the court whose unanimous opinions were written and delivered by Warren E. Burger, the man Nixon named chief justice.

A year ago, Nixon, a lawyer, took a hard line against officially inspired school segregation. But at the same time he opposed massive involuntary busing and said the government would not require local school districts to transport children beyond "normal geographic school zones" to achieve racial balance.

On Tuesday, through Burger, the court said busing was constitutional and the states could not make it illegal; neighborhood schools were fine but they wouldn't do if the district was practicing segregation, and federal judges could use racial balancing as a guideline for breaking up dual systems.

"All things being equal, with no history of discrimination, it might well be desirable to assign pupils to schools nearest their homes," the chief justice wrote. "But all things are not equal in a system that has been deliberately constructed and maintained to enforce racial segregation."

The decisions approved large-scale busing in Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, N.C.; said federal judges erred when they didn't consider massive busing and attendance zone changes in Mobile County, Ala.; approved an effective plan in Clarke County, Ga., and struck down a North Carolina antibusing law.

The obligation was put on school boards to devise plans that promise "realistically to work now." Should school officials lag, federal district judges are to exercise their broad powers of equity to correct "the condition that offends the Constitution."

Asked to comment, Ziegler said local school officials and federal district courts will have the responsibility of carrying out the court's findings.

Tuesday's rulings dealt directly only with schools in the South and in the border states that had laws at one time enforcing racial segregation.

Fair and Warm for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pleasant temperatures are expected to continue in Arkansas through Thursday.

Highs today were forecast in the 70s to near 80 with similar readings expected Thursday.

The shower activity that spread across Arkansas Tuesday moved out of the extreme southeast portion of the state this morning. The precipitation was triggered by a cold front that moved eastward across the state from Oklahoma.

As the cold front moved through the state Tuesday, some violent weather was reported. Strong winds and hail were reported at DeWitt. Hail was also reported at El Dorado.

Fog was widespread this morning with visibility in some areas near zero. However, the fog was expected to lift during the morning with partly cloudy skies by this afternoon.

Nixon Asks Increase in Foreign Aid

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today for a massive overhaul of the U.S. foreign aid program and an increase in military and economic assistance abroad.

White House officials said President's new foreign aid package amounts to $3.3 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

"Foreign assistance is quite clearly in our interest as a nation," Nixon said in a special message outlining his proposed new aid system.

"We are a people whose sons have died, and whose great statesmen have worked, to build a world order which insures peace and prosperity for ourselves and for other nations," he said.

"We are aware," the President said, "that this world order cannot be sustained if our friends cannot defend themselves against aggression, and if two-thirds of the world's people see the richer third as indifferent to their needs and insensitive to their aspirations for a better life."

Nixon proposed a split in the former one-package aid legislation—one measure for international security aid and a second for international economic development and humanitarian aid. In reporting that the combined Nixon request would amount to $3.3 billion, the informed members of Congress listed this as about $500 million more than Nixon sought for foreign aid last year and $800 million above what Congress actually voted.

The two new aid bills being proposed by Nixon are not exactly comparable with previous bills because they involve such a sweeping reform of the existing U.S. foreign aid set-up begun after World War II.

ting "one two three four, we don't want your ... war," they marched up the Pentagon steps but found the doors locked.

The veterans took turns at a bullhorn to tell of atrocities allegedly committed by American troops in Vietnam until the Pentagon agreed to admit three spokesmen to meet with Brig. Gen. Daniel A. (Chappie) James, deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

A group of about 75 veterans marched to the Supreme Court but were denied entry en masse. Officials said they could go in ten at a time but after one group was permitted to enter, the iron doors to the court were closed.

Outside the FBI entrance to the Justice Department, 20 veterans staged a mock roundup of Vietnam prisoners. Striking their "prisoners" with toy machineguns, they explained: "What you have just seen happens every day in Vietnam."

Hollywood Club Having Hard Time

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The YWCA's Hollywood Studio Club, once home to Marilyn Monroe, Kim Novak, Barbara Eden and JoAnne Worley, has fallen on hard times along with the movie industry whose golden era it long symbolized.

It has cut out meals and, for newcomers, increased the room rates once paid by such aspiring starlets as Linda Darnell, Donna Reed, Barbara Hale and Zazu Pitts.

But 50 talented young beauties still occupy the big, Spanish-type residence, practicing songs or dance steps or rushing off to auditions.

Meals were discontinued Dec. 31 and the single-room rate of $20 a week was upped to $36 in an effort to cut losses of thousands of dollars in recent years. Why the losses? For a variety of reasons, spokeswoman say.

Occupancy, a capacity 107 until about five years ago, fell as movies lost money, sound stages went dark, many productions moved overseas and panic hit Hollywood. Some girls went back home, their hopes for movie fame battered. Some moved out leaving room and meal bills unpaid.

Studios, individuals and groups, formerly financial supporters, quit or reduced their donations—another spinoff of the town's economic woes.

On land in the heart of the Hollywood donated by the YWCA's national board the three-story club was built sturdily of concrete and steel in 1962. Brass plates over the two upper floors' bedroom doors identify contributors—"This

Has No Grudge Against Whale That Bit Her

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Annette Eckis holds no grudge against Shamu, the 4,000-pound killer whale that bit her while she was trying to ride the mammal at Sea World marine park.

"I want to go up and kiss Shamu when I get out of here," the attractive 22-year-old brunette said Monday night at a hospital where her right leg was treated for bruises and puncture wounds.

"She was just playing, I am sure," Miss Eckis said. "If she had wanted to, she could have bitten my legs off."

Two trainers had to pry open the mouth of the 17-foot whale Monday to free Miss Eckis' leg.

Says Doctors Should Show More Warmth

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The number of malpractice suits could be cut dramatically if doctors showed their patients more warmth, understanding and consideration, two attorneys and a senator have told a meeting of neurosurgeons.

Most malpractice suits, the attorneys said, result from mechanical, cold and sometimes rude treatment afforded patients, who turn to the courts in anger when medical procedures are not wholly successful.

"Three-fourths of all professional liability suits could be avoided by more sensitive treatment from doctors," said Richard M. Markus of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the American Trial Lawyers Association.

Speaking before a panel on professional liability at a meeting of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons, Markus said his clients who file malpractice suits complain most frequently about how they were treated as human beings and not how they were treated as patients.

"A typical claimant who comes to my office gives a long tale about the doctor's receptionist who was rude, the secretary who was cold and the doctor who won't answer questions," he said. "Then they just incidentally tell me about their medical complaints."

Markus urged the doctors: "Listen to your own staff and how they talk to patients. Then listen to yourself. Even tape record it and play it back later if it will help you."

Crawford Morris, another Cleveland attorney, said that medical machines, a heavy work load and a scarcity of medical workers all tend to make the physician's contact with his patients less personal.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports," in a two-part series, is taking a close look at some deficiencies in the U.S. system of justice. The thesis is that poor people are likely to get the short end of the scales.

While courtroom drama is a television staple, it is difficult to do much that is visual and graphic in a report of this nature. But in the first part shown Tuesday night, some people told such sad tales and the theories of judges and lawyers were so gripping, visual excitement was not necessary.

One woman told how she was faced with the loss of her home in a sheriff's sale to satisfy a finance company's claim of a few hundred dollars. This case was used to point out that small-claims courts, set up to help the poor, in many places have become collection agencies for merchants and finance companies. In some places, 95 per cent of the cases are lost by default, the program said.

On the criminal side, the report concentrated on a Black Panther who was under indictment but not convicted and spent 16 months in a New York jail because he was unable to raise bail. Ultimately he was convicted on one of the lesser counts in his indictment. The case was used to raise the question whether the jury system works fairly when venemurmen drawn from the middle-class are called upon to judge those from deprived areas. In the case shown, the jury was fair, and one of the most interesting segments showed nine of the 12 jurors reassembled to discuss their reactions to prosecution and defense. They seemed to distrust police as witnesses.

The program emphasized efforts being made to repair legal matters, not overburdened and host Eric Sevareid said, close to breakdown.

The second part will be broadcast next month.

Rich, with Garrick Utley asking questions, was shown talking in Hong Kong, mostly about the film taken by a network camera team which accompanied him. The film—crowds, children, buildings, streets, receptions—would have been routine and unexceptional except that they were made during this unusual visit. Rich's report—hopeful, cautious and not unfriendly—matched the pictures.

reads them in the morning and evening papers, gets a "telephone-scope," and also listens to a different one on radio. So she's got four going for her every day, and one usually works on another so I come up looking like a bum.

Like yesterday, I was supposed to 1. Watch my temper. 2. Treat loved ones with more consideration. 3. Strive for success and 4. Forget business for fun in the evening.

Well, I didn't take her out, having to study for a test instead, so she said that proved I have no consideration, which made me mad, so she brought up "temper." How can you "strive for success" with all this against you?

Will you please tell her, Helen, that "horrorscopes" are not to take seriously? —STAR-CROSSED

Dear Girl friend of S.C.:

Those brief generalized "star-tracks" are for entertainment only. When you take them so seriously they cause fights. It's time to "abhor-a-scope," or at least limit yourself to one a day, and read with a smile. —H.

Dear Helen:

I'm the original goof-up. Every decision I make becomes a total disaster.

Last year I did drugs because I couldn't seem to do anything right.

Well, my parents found out. Mom cried and wondered where she had failed, and finally left the room bawling. Mothers!

Three months later my boy friend asked me to run away to Mexico and marry him. We kept it secret, and I sneaked out and met him as much as possible, but it was no good, what with my folks suspecting "the worst," and trying to ground me, so I finally told my husband I was cutting loose. He's furious, but probably won't tell anyone because it would get him in trouble, me being underage.

Now I've met another boy who is real nice, but I've only just begun to be free and don't want anything permanent. The other day he said he'd picked out an apartment and he expects me to marry him as soon as I graduate in June. I don't know how I got myself in this third mess before I was out of the second.

Anyway, I'm off drugs. What do I do now? —"17"

Dear 17:

First things first: You're off drugs. Why? Though you don't give your parents much credit, they must have done SOMETHING right, for after they found out, you quit.

How about giving them another go at straightening up your life? You need adult help for an annulment and mature advice on avoiding another entanglement. A giant step in growing up is to admit mistakes and concede friends are necessary. (And parents can be the best friends of all, if you let them.) —H.

My family had to move in with my sister and brother-in-law because of money reasons. We share the bills.

The problem is my sister's smoking. She can smoke a whole pack in one sitting. There's a dense fog in the house every day. Our eyes water, our lungs clog, we lose our appetites and feel nauseous. She says, "It's My Life," but Helen, it's ours too. How can we live with a chain smoker? —H.M.B.

Dear H:

It's not only your sister's life, but her house. If she wants to shorten one and fog up the other, family disapproval won't change her (though a good scare from her doctor might). Start house-hunting! —H.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Harwell and daughter Carol invite you to a series of gospel meetings going on now and thru Sunday, April 25 at Hope Church of Christ. Bro. Carl Maples of Kingston, Jamaica is the guest speaker at 7:30 p.m.

Cards Break Frisco Win Streak

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Phil Niekro lost his knuckleball in Atlanta last summer, found it in Arizona last fall, retained it in Florida this spring and gave it to the Pirates in Pittsburgh Tuesday night.

The Niekro knuckler was jittersbugging to perfection and the Pirates managed only six hits as the Atlanta Braves posted a 2-0 victory on Hank Aaron's two-run homer off Bob Moose in the first inning, the 59th of his career.

"One of his knuckleballs was taking off and the other—the bottom was dropping out of it," said Pittsburgh slugger Willie Stargell. "I was just looking for the one in between."

The Pirates never found it and show a mere six runs and 27 hits in their last five games, mere peanuts for the powerful Braves.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis ended San Francisco's nine-game winning streak 2-1, Cincinnati edged the New York Mets 3-2 on Johnny Bench's two-run homer in the eighth inning, Philadelphia snapped Montreal 1-0 behind Chris Short's three-hitter, the Chicago Cubs downed Houston 3-1 and Los Angeles whipped San Diego 6-2.

American League scores were Detroit 7, Baltimore 6; Oakland 4, California 0; Minnesota 5, Kansas City 4; Washington 7, New York Yankees 2; Boston 4, Cleveland 1 and the Chicago White Sox 7, Milwaukee 1.

Niekro, who pitched Atlanta to the championship of the NL West in 1969 with 23 victories, slipped to 12-18 last season and his non-knuckler was tattooed to 40 home runs. After the season he worked with the Braves' instructional league team in Scottsdale, Ariz., and regained his touch.

He was pretty good in spring training and apparently came off the way back Tuesday night. Even during 1970's bad times, though, Niekro shut out the Pirates twice.

The Giants seemed a shoo-in to run their winning streak to 10 when they sent ace Juan Marichal against Reggie Cleveland of St. Louis, who had lost all six of his major league decisions.

But the Cards nicked Marichal for both their runs in the fourth on a walk to Maury Alou, who stole second and continued to third on Dick Dietz' throwing error, then scored on Joe Torre's single. Ted Simmons tripled for the deciding run.

Cleveland blanked the Giants until the eighth, when they scored on Tito Fuentes' two-out single. Reliever Frank Linzy ended that rally but Moe Drabowsky had to come on in the ninth with the bases loaded and strike out George Foster and Fran Healy to preserve the triumph.

The Giants lost outfielder Bobby Bonds when he suffered a severely sprained ankle trying to get back to first base on an attempted pickoff in the third inning. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays.

Manager Gil Hodges of the team elected not to violate the rule that says thou shalt not throw the winning run on base when he had Danny Frisella on base to Bench with two out and runner on second in the third inning.

The NL's most valuable player of 1970 promptly slammed the ball far into the left field and brought the winning run all the way around. Pete Rose homered in the first for the Reds' first run and Duffy Deneke pitched the first of his seven-inning shutout.

After Fred's sixth-inning sacrifice fly following a walk, Rose and sacrifice gave the Reds the only run they needed to end Montreal's four-game winning streak, and shortstop Steve Garvey led the NL East. The Dodgers now lead with one game separating four teams.

Porter, who walked seven, led out of numerous jams, besting Ernie McAnally, who had his first major league

Bucks Choice to Defeat Bullets

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — A gritty band of ailing and aching Milwaukee Bucks, a "team of destiny," against the awesome, high-powered Milwaukee Bucks ... that's the way the National Basketball Association championship playoff series opens tonight.

The Bucks, led by Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson, are heavy favorites to win the nationally televised ABC-TV first contest and the best-of-seven game series.

But the Bullets, their confidence soaring after eliminating the 1970 champion New York Knicks Monday night despite injuries to three regulars, think this is Baltimore's year.

After surviving the gruelling road they have had to travel to these finals, the long-starved Bullets feel ready to follow in the footsteps of baseball's World Champion Orioles and football's Super Bowl champion Colts, Baltimore's other major league teams.

"I've been with this club eight years and I know the way the guys are thinking," said Kevin Loughery, one of the walking wounded.

"We feel this is our year ... we're supposed to win. Just look at all the injuries we've had and still come through. We're a team of destiny."

Loughery needed pain-killing shots for an injured foot to play part time against the Knicks, and the Bullets had two other starters out, or nearly out, for the New York series.

Eddie Miles, another guard with Loughery, hasn't played since tearing an Achilles tendon in mid-season. All-star forward Gus Johnson, the team's top rebounder and 18 point scorer, needed shots in both knees to play part time in the final two games against New York and in the seventh game against Philadelphia in the quarter-finals.

This is what the Bullets are taking against a team that beat them four times in five tries during the regular season; a team that boasts the 7-foot-2 dominating Alcindor, the NBA's Most Valuable Player, and Oscar Robertson, called the greatest guard in history; a team that breezed past San Francisco and Los Angeles in earlier rounds.

The Bucks also are the best shooting in league history, the first club to hit more than 50 per cent of their shots during the season, 50.9, and won 66 games during the regular season.

And the Bucks, a lowly expansion team three years ago before Alcindor turned everything around, are hungry, like Baltimore, for their first NBA title.

In fact, neither team has ever gone this far previously. A Baltimore team that later folded won the title in 1948, but the present Bullets are a 1961 expansion club that moved from Chicago in 1963.

"People expect us to get started," Ron Santo hit a two-run homer, Joe Pepitone tripled home a run and Ferguson Jenkins hurled a six-hitter as the Cubs ended a four-game losing streak by beating the Astros.

Second-inning doubles by Jesus Alou and Cesar Cedeno accounted for Houston's run.

The Dodgers scored all their runs off Steve Arlin and Al Santorini in the third inning and sent the Padres to their seventh consecutive sell job.

Favor Palmer in Tourney of Champs

T of C Golf By BOB GREEN

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, winner of two tournaments this year, was installed as a 6-1 favorite today to win the $33,000 first prize in the Tournament of Champions golf tournament.

The odds were quoted by Las Vegas' legal bookies, who made South African Gary Player a strong No. 2 choice at 7-1 in the 72-hole event that starts Thursday on the demanding La Costa Country Club course.

Other leading contenders in the elite, 35-man field include Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion Charles Coody, England's Tony Jacklin, the U.S. Open title-holder who has an affinity for winning the big ones, and defending champion Frank Beard.

The select field, made up of the winners of regular pro golf tour events from the past 12 months, is lacking only two of the game's great names—Billy Casper and Lee Trevino.

Casper had to withdraw, at the request of the state department.

Originally, he was scheduled to serve as a member of the official party for King Hassan II of Morocco on a state visit to this country. The trip was cancelled, but the king requested Casper visit him in North Africa this week.

Trevino, the 1970 leading money winner and Vardon Trophy champion, failed to win in the last 12 months and is not eligible.

Palmer, playing some of the best golf of his life, is the season's leading money winner with more than $100,000. He has been driving extremely well and it's that fact, as much as any, that stamps him as a leading contender.

The course is extremely tight.

"The fairways are only 23 yards wide," said host pro Eddie Sussala. "Ten yards out on each side the rough is about two inches, then 10 yards at, oh, maybe three-four inches then, well, it's pretty deep."

Player has shown a marked liking for the layout. He won here in 1969, when the course was in similar condition, and finished second last season.

Another top candidate is Gene Littler, winner of last week's Monsanto Open. Littler once scored three consecutive triumphs in this event when it was played on a different course.

The final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV.

blown out of the arena against Milwaukee," Loughery said, "but that's not going to happen. We're too good a ballclub."

The Knicks, who held a 4-1 edge over Milwaukee during the season and were expected to play the Bucks in the final, also gave the Bullets a good chance.

"If they play as well as they did against us, they could give Milwaukee a good run," Willis Reed of the Knicks said. "The big thing is Alcindor. You can't stop him, but if Wes (Unseld) can contain him to a degree, it could be a good series."

Reed was talking about holding Alcindor, the league's scoring leader with a 31.7 average, to 35-38 points a game. Baltimore's Unseld, a bulky 6-8, did better than that during the season, holding the giant center to 31.8 points a contest while scoring 20.8 himself, far above his 14.1 season average.

Walt Frazier of the Knicks felt the Bullets will "do great if they play like they did against us."

A slow down is what the Bullets did against the Knicks with John Tresvant and Fred Carter replacing Loughery and Johnson in the starting lineup, joining Unseld, Earl Monroe and Jack Marin. They will be matched against Alcindor, Robertson, forwards Bob Danbridge and Greg Smith and guard Jon McClocklin.

The series shifts to Baltimore Sunday afternoon for the second game on national television with No. 3 back here next Wednesday night. The fourth game will be in Baltimore a week from Friday night. Games 5-7, if necessary, will be in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon, May 2; in Baltimore Wednesday night, May 5; and in Milwaukee Sunday afternoon, May 9.

Indiana's Shot Failure Hurts Chance

By JIM CHURCH
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Indiana Pacers will suffer the same fate as the New York Knicks unless the Pacers "start putting the ball in the hoop," says Indiana coach Bob Leonard.

Indiana was trounced 126-99 by the Utah Stars Tuesday night and is now within one game of being dethroned as American Basketball Association champion.

Utah, leading 3-1, can wind up the best-of-seven Western Division playoffs Thursday night at Anderson, Ind.

In the National Basketball Association, Baltimore eliminated the Knicks, defending NBA champs, 93-91 Monday night and open the final playoff series tonight at Milwaukee against the Bucks, who defeated Los Angeles in the Western Division playoffs.

Virginia, leading Kentucky 2-1 in the ABA Eastern Division playoffs, plays the Colonels tonight in Louisville.

Utah, which placed second to Indiana by one game in the regular season, made a shambles of the Pacers' defense as the Stars, behind Zelmo Beaty's 22-point effort, hit 48 per cent of their shots, not counting 3-for-13 on three-point attempts.

The Stars zoomed to a 24-7 lead, then held advantages of 33-13 after the first quarter and 53-36 at halftime.

"We couldn't make a basket," moaned Leonard, who started clearing his bench when the Stars took a 36-point lead early in the final period.

"We've played eight playoff games now, and I don't think we're shooting 40 per cent from the field," Leonard said.

If the Pacers win Thursday night, the teams will play in Utah Saturday night.

The Pacers were beaten on the frontline, where they are considered the best in the ABA. Center Mel Daniels of Indiana outbounded Beaty 16-13, but scored only 12. Stars forward Willie Wise scored 19, including 15 in the first half, and held Roger Brown, who averages 20 a game, to 12.

Bill Keller and rookie Rick Mount led Indiana with 20 and 17. Merv Jackson and Glen Combs hit 17 apiece for Utah.

"I'd like to think our defense caused their poor shooting," Stars coach Bill Sharman said.

Mrs. Babe Ruth Hopes Someone Will Break Babe's HR Record

ATLANTA (AP) — If Willie Mays or Henry Aaron surpass the 714 career home run record set by Babe Ruth, the widow of the legendary slugger says no one will cheer louder than she.

And, Mrs. Ruth said Tuesday, if the Babe were here he would be cheering just as loudly.

"It won't hurt my feelings at all. And it wouldn't bother the Babe either. It would be a great shot in the arm for the game, something to keep it alive. And Babe, as much as he dearly loved baseball, would like to see it happen I'm sure," Mrs. Ruth said in a telephone interview with The Atlanta Constitution.

"He was proud of his accomplishments. But he wasn't vain in the sense that he would get angry when somebody's figures were more than his. He was too big of a person inside to let anything like that bother him."

Mrs. Ruth, the former Clara Hodgson of Jefferson, Ga., said the Babe would be especially pleased if his record were broken by someone with the character of Aaron or Mays.

"Both gentlemen are tremendous credits to the game," she said. "They are high class individuals who have given baseball so very much. And they are both great players."

Both Mays, the only man other than Ruth to pass the 600 home run mark, and Aaron, who is closing in fast, are off to fine starts this season.

Mays, the San Francisco slugger, has boosted his career total to 632. Aaron hit his 598th against Pittsburgh Tuesday night. It was the game-winning blow in a 2-0 victory for Atlanta.

Even if Mays or Aaron hit No. 715, they won't have surpassed the Babe in one sense, said Mrs. Ruth.

"I will always know all the circumstances behind Babe's having 714 of them," she said. "I'll remember, as I feel sure history also will, that he actually hit his home runs during a 14-year period. And he played—or had a chance to play—in only 154 games a year in those days."

"Babe spent the first six years of his big league career as a pitcher, and during that time he only played every fourth day or so."

"Mr. Aaron and Mr. Mays, if they are lucky, will have done it in an era when we had 162-game schedules. And they played only one position throughout their careers," said Mrs. Ruth.

Hope High School golfers won one and losing one, the Hope High School golfers now own a 4-3 seasonal record with two tough matches ahead.

Last Friday the golfers went to Camden and came home stinging from a rough 17½ to ½ loss from the Panthers.

Hope managed their half point on Jerry Prudens scorecard when he lost to his opponent, Chip Reyford, 2½-½. The Bobcats were shut out the rest of the way, while Camden's Red Jordan took overall medalist honors with a 73.

Last Monday the golfers trimmed by the Texarkana Razorback Golfers by one stroke, 342 to 343.

Jack Turner took medalist honors with an 84, while Tim Hogan had an 85, Jerry Pruden and 86, and Jimmy Pruden an 87.

Hope's B-team lost by 35 strokes, 401-366, to lower their record to 1-3.

Tim White and Joe Fouse shared medalist honors with 96½, while Randy Wright shot a 98, and Tim Gunter hit a 111.

Next Saturday the Girls volleyball team will host a tournament at Jones Field House, with such teams as Ashdown, Prescott, and Nashville entered.

Graebner, the defending champion, and second seeded Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and third seeded Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, both former champions, survived the upset-marked first round Tuesday.

Fourth seeded Mark Cox of England and several other favorites were eliminated.

Two Rice University players pulled off a pair of first-round upsets.

Graebner defeated Peter Van Lingen of Oral Roberts University 6-4, 7-6. Richey, the 1968 champion, defeated Steve Turner of Miami, Fla., 6-1, 6-2; and Franulovic, the 1969 champion, defeated Steve Faulk of New Orleans 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Milan Holecchek of Czechoslovakia took out Cox 7-5, 6-3, to leave only three seeded players in the field.

Harold Solomon and Zan Guerry scored the upsets for Rice. Solomon defeated Nicola Spear, last year's semifinalist from Yugoslavia, 6-2, 6-3, and Guerry defeated Tom Edlelsen of Los Angeles, the nation's 12th ranked player, 6-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Another collegian, Paul Gerken of Trinity University, upset Roy Barth of San Diego, Calif., 6-4, 6-4.

The tie-breaking scoring system was used to speed up the matches.

This year's tournament is part of the grand prix tennis circuit with top money of $4,000 plus $1,000 expenses.

Clay Dalrymple was mad. So was Earl Weaver. And Dick McAuliffe ... ooh, was he mad!

It was just a mad, mad, mad world at Tiger Stadium Tuesday night.

McAuliffe capped a night of madness by bouncing into catcher Dalrymple at home with the winning run that gave Detroit a 7-6 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The ninth-inning collision almost touched off a wholesale fight as both benches emptied, but it was stalled by the umpires.

"That's the way you're supposed to play the game," said losing manager Earl Weaver, referring to catchers blocking the plate. "Ellie Hendricks did it earlier to Joe Niekro and Bill Freehan did it to Boog Powell ... so Dalrymple was going to do it to McAuliffe."

Weaver pointed to the fifth inning when Hendricks, the starting Baltimore catcher, was flattened while blocking the plate in a collision with Detroit pitcher Joe Niekro. The run preceded Jim Northrup's three-run home run.

In the Orioles' five-run eighth inning that tied the game at 6-6, Powell roared home, but was cut down by an Al Kaline throw after a single to right field. In this case, Freehan was blocking the plate, too.

Northrup then lashed a single to left off Pete Richert that chased home McAuliffe. Greeting the Tiger runner with open arms was Dalrymple, an eighth-inning sub. Only trouble was, he didn't have the ball.

"McAuliffe never touched home," said Weaver, "but it didn't matter—Dalrymple was ruled for catcher interference."

See, it's okay to block the plate—but not without a ball. After McAuliffe got up, Dalrymple followed him from home and tagged him. McAuliffe didn't think it was funny. He shoved Dalrymple, Dalrymple shoved back, and the other players joined in before the umpires quieted things.

Washington knocked out the New York Yankees 7-2; Boston whipped Cleveland 4-2; Minnesota nudged Kansas City 5-4; Chicago stopped Milwaukee 7-1 and Oakland beat California 4-0 in the other American League games.

In the National League, it was Chicago 3, Houston 1; Philadelphia 1, Montreal 0; Atlanta 2, Pittsburgh 0; Cincinnati 3, New York Mets 2; Los Angeles 6, San Diego 2 and St. Louis 2, San Francisco 1.

After Northrup's single off Pete Richert, McAuliffe said he thought he didn't even have to slide home with the winning run.

"But when I got there, Dalrymple was blocking the plate," he said. "Then he threw his knee out, trying to knock me off balance."

Weaver was second-guessed for pitching to Northrup despite his hot bat.

With all the turmoil around home plate, Richert's negative record was dwarfed. In all three Orioles losses this year, their ace reliever has been on the mound.

and scored three runs, leading Washington over New York.

"I hope this gets me going," said the broad-shouldered slugger. "This probably has been one of my slowest starts. If I thought it would do me any good, I'd be worrying about it."

Prior to Tuesday's game, last year's American League home run champion had just three extra-base hits—all doubles—and a .239 batting average. He also walked and singled against Yankee starter Fritz Peterson. Gary Peters doubled home the first two runs for Boston in the fifth inning and defeated Cleveland with relief help from Ken Tatum.

Peters, who had given only three hits in five innings, ran into a sixth-inning jam. He served up a homer to Ray Fosse, then singles to Roy Foster and Larry Brown and a walk to Buddy Bradford to load the bases with two out. Tatum got pinch-hitter Gomer Hodge to ground out and held the Indians without a hit the rest of the way.

Reliever Ron Perranoski preserved Minnesota's victory in the ninth inning by inducing Fred Patek to hit into a double play with men on first and second.

Pitcher Bart Johnson drove in three runs with a second-inning double and a grounder in the eighth and scattered eight hits for Chicago.

Oakland used Jim "Catfish" Hunter's three-hitter and two mammoth homers by Sal Bando to take care of California.

W. Va. Woman Is Leading Bowling Meet

ATLANTA (AP) — Mrs. Jewell Gray, a 30-year-old housewife from Point Pleasant, W. Va., has taken the lead in Division II All Events of the Woman's International Bowling Congress' Championship Tournament.

Mrs. Gray, appearing in her first international competition, bowled a nine-game total of 1527 Tuesday, with 472 in doubles, 546 in singles and 490 in team.

Jenny Schmidt of Miramar, Fla., took over second place in Division I singles with games of 193, 234 and 183 for 610. She went 29 consecutive frames without an open.

Moving into second place in Division I team play was the New Jersey Five of Somers Point, N.J., which had 2535. AmFairs New York City moved into third position in the event with 2529.

Montreal Is Winner in Hockey

MONTREAL (AP)—Perhaps the Minnesota North Stars' team captain Ted Harris summed up Tuesday's first game of the North Stars-Montreal Canadiens semifinal Stanley Cup National Hockey League playoff game the best.

"We had a real good 20 minutes. The trouble is the game is 60 minutes long."

The North Stars did look good for one period—the first. But after the opening 20 minutes, it was all down. $11 for Minnesota as the Canadiens' pumped seven goals past goalie Lorne "Gump" Worsley en route to a 7-2 victory and a 1-0 lead in the best-of-7 series.

"What are those Canadiens made of?" asked Bobby Rousseau, the right winger the Canadiens traded to the North Stars last summer. "They come off a tough series with Boston and you'd think they would have a letdown. But no way."

The North Stars outskated and outplayed Montreal in the opening period and grabbed a 1-0 lead at 11:45 on Danny Grant's powerplay goal.

The West Division North Stars, appearing in their first Stanley Cup series against an East Division team, appeared to have caught Montreal off guard.

The Canadiens started to skate in the second period and fired four goals past Worsley, their ex-teammate.

Mark tied the score 1-1 at 5:48 with a blistering shot from inside the blueline and then Jacques Lemaire scored three times to tie a National Hockey League playoff record for most goals in a period by an individual player.

Lemaire sent Montreal ahead 2-1 at 11:07. Four minutes later, he beat Worsley with a shot to the short side added his third goal with 69 seconds remaining in the period.

Lemaire said he was unaware he had tied the record. He also had words of praise for his linemate Frank Mahovlich.

In the third period, the Canadiens kept right on top of the visitors getting three goals—one each from Tardif, Frank Mahovlich and Guy Lapointe—while Bill Goldsborough was the Minnesota scorer.

"We'll know more by Thursday," said Minnesota Coach Jackie Gordon. "We didn't look sharp. It's been a long layoff for us from last Thursday to Tuesday and I think we were affected by it."

"We got away from our checking game and weren't playing positional hockey after the first period."

Black Hawks Win Over New York

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm not superstitious," said Coach Billy Reay of the Chicago Black Hawks "but I'm going to wear it in New York."

Reay was talking about a shiny, worn brown suit he was wearing following a 3-0 victory over New York Tuesday night to the best-of-seven semifinal Stanley Cup series at one game each.

Reay had worn the suit in all four games of a quarter-final sweep over the Philadelphia Flyers but abandoned the suit Sunday night in favor of a snapper outfit. The Hawks lost 2-1 in overtime.

"There's a rip in it and it can stand up in the corner by itself, but I'm going to keep wearing it," said the sheepish Reay.

Aside from the suit, Dennis Hull, Cliff Koroll and Tony Esposito were instrumental in boosting the Hawks to victory. Koroll scored a goal in the first period for a 1-0 lead and then fed Dennis Hull a perfect pass in the second period as the younger Hull made it 2-0.

Esposito recorded his first shutout in Stanley Cup competition shortly after Dennis

Hull scored on an empty net with 15 seconds to play.

The series now shifts to New York for the third and fourth games Thursday night and Sunday and game No. 5 is scheduled in Chicago next Tuesday night.

"It's now a best-of-five series," said Reay who discounted the fact that the rangers hold the home-ice edge after having won the opener on Chicago ice Sunday night.

"The home ice hasn't meant much in the playoffs this year," said Reay. "You just have to forget about it and play your game."

Esposito, emotionally drained, pushed aside questions concerning his first cup shutout as he turned back 32 Ranger shots. "I don't care about the shutout. We won the game."

A beaming Dennis Hull was explaining his first goal and said "I shot it up and he (goalie Ed Giacomin) was still coming across."

Koroll couldn't make up his mind on which pleased him most, his goal or his assist and finally said. "The goal was a big goal but I liked the assist a little better. It got Dennis a score and gave us a 2-0 lead."

The Rangers took the defeat in stride.

"They had a fine all-around performance," added Francis. "We knew we had to win one here and we've already achieved that."

G. & F. to Aid Buffalo River Bill

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission adopted a resolution Wednesday to send a staff member to Washington D. C. to testify in support of the concept of the Buffalo National River.

Hearings on a bill to make the scenic Buffalo River a national river are to begin Thursday in Washington.

Andrew Hulse, director of the commission, said Richard Broach, administrative assistant to the commission, would make the trip.

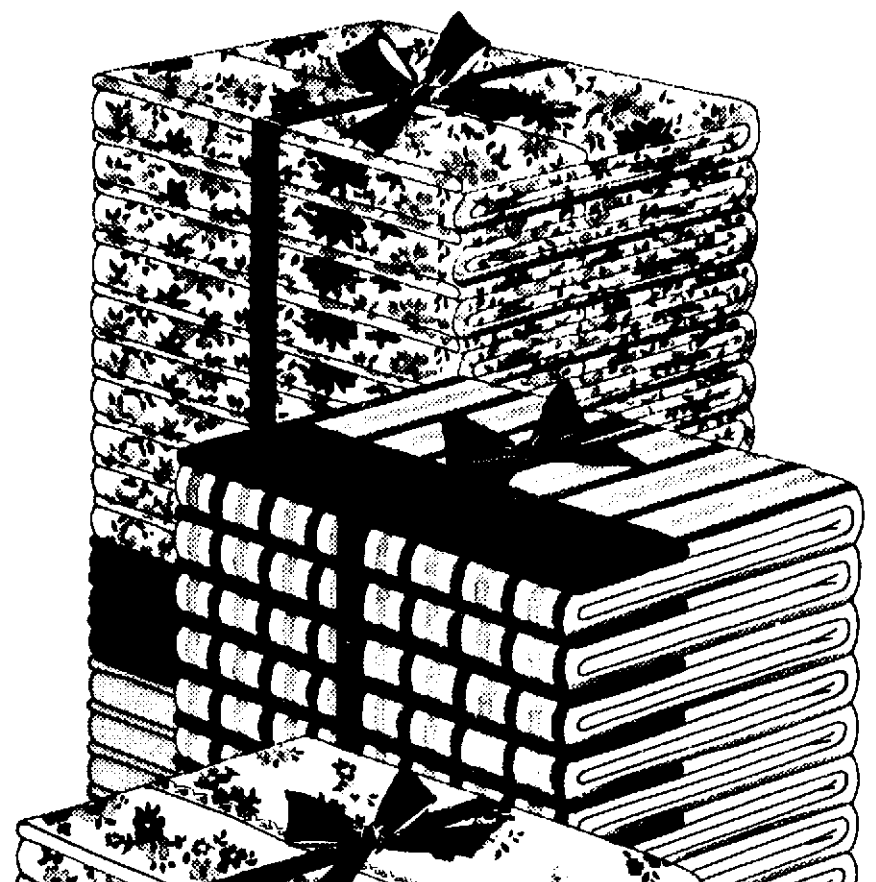

Hulse said the commission had previously adopted a resolution supporting the concept of the Buffalo National River. "We just wanted to enter into this in a more positive way," Hulse said.

The commission also liberalized the turkey seasons in the Sylamore Wildlife Management Area from Mountain View. The commission authorized a second gun season from April 24-May 2 and extended the archery season on turkeys through May 2.

GOP Governors Are Closing Ranks for the 1972 Campaign

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Republican governors, in the mood for campaign unity, are joining ranks behind the administration, putting aside the complaints of the past as they look toward the 1972 national elections.

Party harmony has been the major political signal for the 19 GOP governors who conferred in Virginia's restored colonial capital about the business of government and the prospect of coming elections.

The tone was far different from their last conference in Sun Valley, Idaho, five months ago, just after the Republicans had seen their state house following dwindle from 32 to 21. Then, there was criticism of the administration, of liaison with the governors and particularly of the campaign performance of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. This time there has been little or none.

Agnew was quoted as telling a private session of governors "The press is expecting another Idaho and they aren't going to get it."

Gov. Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts said he heard grumbling and complaints from conservative as well as more liberal governors at Sun Valley but "I haven't heard any of that here."

He said the governors generally were talking in optimistic terms about the 1972 elections and particularly about President Nixon's re-election prospects.

Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, who will be the new chairman of the GOP Governors' Association, said the relationship of the governors to the administration is excellent.

Russia in Buildup of Missiles

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today recent intelligence evidence "confirms the sobering fact that the Soviet Union is involved in a new and apparently extensive" intercontinental ballistic missile construction program.

At the same time, he warned that if there is no "convincing progress" at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, the United States may have to take what he termed offsetting actions to preserve "the sufficiency of our strategic forces."

Brad and Bruce Joyce, of Hope, along with their father, Danny Joyce, are shown weighing one of their three fat calves. These calves will be exhibited at the Third District Livestock Show in September 1971. The calves are being weighed to determine gains over a specific period of time.

In addition to these calves, one calf owned by Foy Dale Maasingill, of Guernsey, was weighed by Associate County Extension Agents, W.R. Vandivere and Cayce B. Smith.

These portable scales are available for use by livestock producers from the Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association.

Berkeley 1st to Apply Bussing

By JOHN EGAN

Associated Press Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —

While some American communities were fighting efforts to desegregate their schools, the university city of Berkeley three years ago voluntarily launched an elementary school busing program designed to balance classrooms racially.

In so doing, Berkeley became the first city of more than 100-

000 population with a significant black population to segregate schools by busing. Forty-four per cent of the city's 113,000 residents are black.

Today, critics have found busing did not live up to their fears, and supporters have learned it did not meet all their expectations.

School officials say surveys show that community opposition to busing is waning—about 52 per cent opposed it three years ago and fewer than 30 per cent today.

Also, school officials say test scores show the quality of education has improved for everyone—black, white and Asian.

The busing of 3,500 elementary youngsters began Sept. 10, 1968, according to a plan that school officials and a citizens' committee had developed.

The plan's key concept was that formerly white schools in the city's hill area would serve kindergarten through third grades, with whites walking to school and blacks riding buses, while black flatlands schools would serve grades 4-6, with blacks walking and whites riding buses.

The city was broken into four "attendance areas," each including a black neighborhood and a white neighborhood, and assignments to the 14 elementary schools were worked out by computer. The assignments reflected the community's racial composition: Chicano 3.4 per cent, other white 43.3 per cent, black 44.7 per cent, American Indian .1 per cent and others 8.5 per cent.

"Our achievement in the primary grades—the youngsters who have been with us all the way—is higher than it ever was in pre-desegregation Berkeley," says Dr. Richard Foster, the superintendent of schools.

"I would contend that up through the eighth or ninth grades our kids are performing as well or better than they did before. Also, there are more multiethnic friends among students and parents than ever occurred before."

The city's three junior highs, for pupils in grades 7-9, had been desegregated in 1964 without busing—the students must walk, get rides, use bikes or public transportation.

Senior high pupils have always attended the city's one high school, Berkeley High. Black Panther cofounders Bobby Seale and Huey P. Newton are among its former pupils, and racial tensions and separations have traditionally been strong there.

Foster says a large part of the problem now at Berkeley High is that students have been mixing there for the first time, and that poorer quality preparation for blacks has left them segregated by achievement the way they are by homes.

Coach Is Fired at Harrison

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Dean Wilburn, head basketball coach and athletic director at Harrison High School, was fired Tuesday night by the School Board on a 4-3 vote.

Wilburn has coached for 11 years and has a record of 334-71. His team went to the finals of the state Class AA state tournament and he was voted the outstanding coach in Region 1AA.

Wilburn also was assistant principal and taught social studies.

CBS Given 10 Television Logs Days to Reply Wednesday to Congress

By CARL C. CRAFT

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House's chief overseer of the broadcast industry contends American seeing television news documentaries have "a right to know—not only by whom, but how they are being persuaded."

Granting CBS 10 days to reconsider not giving Congress unshown film and other material sought by subpoena on its controversial "Selling of the Pentagon" program, Harley O. Staggers said his panel is not trying to judge viewpoints expressed on such programs.

"We do not have, nor do we seek, authority to curtail the presentation of controversial issues or of unpopular causes or personalities," the West Virginia Democrat, head of both the House Commerce Committee and the investigations subcommittee, said Tuesday.

"It is this subcommittee's view, however, that the American public is entitled to know whether what it is seeing on the television screen is real or simulated, edited or unedited, sequentially accurate or editorially rearranged, spontaneous or contrived," he added in a 2,500-word statement during a closed-door hearing.

CBS turned over films and transcripts of "The Selling of the Pentagon" as actually televised, and said this was being "furnished voluntarily and not in compliance with the subpoena."

The network reserved its right to challenge the validity of the subpoena, and urged reconsideration of the demand to furnish unused material. Continued refusal by CBS to provide subpoenaed material could lead to a contempt citation and court test.

CBS argued the subpoena's demands "for film, recordings, out-takes, transcripts, identifications of individuals, disbursements, and releases, raise fundamental constitutional issues as to whether journalistic news judgments can be subjected to legislative surveillance."

But Staggers, who made his statement available to newsmen after the five-member panel's lengthy private session with attorneys for CBS and NBC, said the situation "has nothing to do with the First Amendment—they couldn't be operating at all unless the government gives them the right."

Staggers said NBC gave the panel a copy of the "Say Goodbye" program dealing with vanishing wild life. The chairman reported David Wolper Productions of Los Angeles, producers, of the program carried by NBC, was sending the subcommittee nonbroadcast material concerning the documentary.

The CBS program examined the Pentagon's public relations efforts, with the thrust being that the military was using funds not only to inform but to persuade the public on vital national policies.

Subcommittee sources said the panel was interested in the Wolper program because of complaints about a sequence involving a polar bear represented as shot to death when actually it had been drugged.

Kiwanis Club Speaker Drug Firms' Merger Draws Challenge

DR. LESTER SITZES

Dr. Lester Sitzes, local dentist, was Tuesday's guest speaker at this week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club. He was presented by Kiwanian Jim McKenzie.

"Dental diseases are more prevalent throughout the world than all other known diseases, and it is primarily a matter of cleanliness or rather uncleanliness," said Dr. Sitzes. "A clean mouth discourages tooth decay and dental diseases."

Dr. Sitzes briefly discussed several comparatively new things in dentistry. The air drill does a better job in about one half the time required by older equipment. Newer local anesthetics are far superior to older agents. Disposable needles are much less painful and more sanitary than reusable needles. Porcelain or a gold shell is now the most accepted capping material for exposed teeth due to the fact that it retains its whiteness as does a new white filling material.

Hypnosis in the practice of dentistry has lost favor in most instances as a means of dental anesthesia. One of the newest developments is the present day use of Nitrous Oxide (laughing gas). This material is not new, but as formerly used it had many and dangerous side effects which under a new technique are no longer present. This newer technique has been in use only about three years. It is gradually being used by more and more men in the practice of dentistry.

Dr. Sitzes concluded by stating that in the near future the public would be hearing and reading about a new plastic coating for teeth to prevent decay.

Reports of the recent Kiwanis Variety Show were given by Committee Chairmen, but the definite financial report is not yet complete.

Mrs. Revis Edmonds was the only guest at Tuesday's meeting.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission, picking up a politically sensitive antitrust case dropped by the Justice Department, has challenged the merger of two drug houses into the nation's third largest pharmaceutical firm.

The FTC said Tuesday the acquisition of Parke, Davis & Co. by Warner-Lambert Co. eliminates competition between the two firms which had combined assets of $971 million in 1969.

The merger had been opposed by Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren, chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division, but he was overruled by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst last November on the eve of the merger.

While the Justice Department statement announcing that it would not bring suit against the merger did not go into the reasons for its decision, it noted that Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was once a member of the law firm representing Warner-Lambert, and had disqualified himself from considering the case.

Another former partner of that law firm is President Nixon, who also is a close friend of Elmer H. Bobst, Warner-Lambert's honorary chairman. Bobst was among the six largest contributors to the 1968 Nixon-Agnew campaign.

Reached in Seattle where he was attending a Senate Commerce Committee hearing, McLaren said "It's gratifying to see the FTC prosecutor has reached the same conclusion I did and that they'll fight the merger."

Prior to the merger Warner-Lambert was the 12th largest U.S. drug manufacturer and Parke, Davis ranked 14.

In New York, Stuart K. Hensley, chairman of Warner-Lambert, denied the merger violated antitrust laws.

"However, the company is prepared to enter into negotiations looking to an accommodation with the government on some basis which will be satisfactory to the company and the government," Hensley said.

The FTC's proposed complaint gives Warner-Lambert 30 days to decide whether to negotiate a consent order settlement or contest the case before an FTC hearing examiner and subsequently the full five-member commission.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversing the huge supply buildup that began in 1965, the Pentagon is planning to haul about 3 million tons of decontaminated war materiel back home from Vietnam.

Some tonnage remaining after completion of the administration's Vietnamization program may go to South Korean and Thai military forces, Defense Department sources indicated.

Huge quantities of scrap piling up in Vietnam are to be sold to commercial companies on a competitive bid basis, they said.

Pentagon officials said the U.S.-destined three millions tons of materiel is worth "tens of millions of dollars" and will fill the needs of Army units stateside.

"It's pretty important that we get this materiel back and put in operation as soon as possible," one top logistics official said in an interview.

Tagged for shipment back are tanks, armored personnel carriers, trucks, electronic equipment, cranes and a broad variety of other items.

The Vietnam war had first priority on equipment and many units based in the United States were deprived of important gear to feed the big buildup.

Bringing home millions of tons of supplies and equipment will be costly, officials conceded, but they said it will be cheaper than buying new gear for units still under-equipped.

Before any of the gear can be shipped, it must be decontaminated and cleaned to meet Agriculture Department and other safety standards. A major objective, officials said, is to avoid bringing plant bugs from Southeast Asia.

Pentagon officials will not say how long they expect the entire shipment process to take, but they indicated the removal of equipment is on a time schedule geared closely to the gradual withdrawal of American troops. That would suggest the bulk of the job will be done by the fall of 1972.

Governor Dale Bumpers signs into law the "solid waste disposal" bill, an anti-pollution measure authored by Rep. Mack McLarty of Hope at right and Thomas Sparks of Fordyce. Also pictured are Lt. Gov. Bob Riley and members of the state pollution control board.

LLT Fraud Case Is Recessed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The fraud and conspiracy trial of the Louisiana attorney general and two others recessed Tuesday in federal court after the state banking commissioner testified that Louisiana Loan & Thrift Corp. was a "glorified company."

The trial is to resume Thursday.

Clem Sehrt testified in the LL&T trial Tuesday that if he had been banking commissioner at the time the now defunct firm applied for a certificate of authority to operate as a bank he would have investigated it.

The late A. Clayton James, Sehrt's predecessor, wrote a letter to the Securities and Exchange Commission in 1966 stating LL&T was "similar to a bank" and came under his authority, the letter was sent, testimony alleged, after the SEC was suspicious of the firm and Gov. John McKeithen and other state officials pressured James into writing the letter.

Under cross-examination Sehrt was asked if he would have investigated the firm. He replied, "Frankly, Mr. James should have. It was his duty to go examine that bank."

State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, New Orleans Rep. Salvador Anzelmo and Arkansas businessman Ernest A. Bartlett Jr. are on trial for alleged fraud and conspiracy in their dealings with the now insolvent firm. James was listed as a coconspirator but not charged.

LL&T opened its doors July 1, 1966, as a small loan company and, under pressure from the SEC, was forced to come under the jurisdiction of the state Banking Department. It went out of business two years later.

Sehrt was asked to define

$500,000 Youth Hall Gift of Penny Co.

Pictured above is the J.C. Penny Youth Hall, which will be a part of the expanded National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. The National 4-H Foundation has received from the J.C. Penny Co., Inc., and from the family of its founder, James Cash Penny, pledges totaling $500,000.

That pledge is part of the $8 million campaign to expand and improve the National 4-H Center. Arkansas pledged $40,000 and was the first state in the nation to fulfill its pledge.

According to Calvin J. Caldwell, County Extension Agent, six Hempstead County people have attended Citizenship short courses at the National 4-H Center during the last few years. They are: Lanette Arrington, Linda Reece, Gloria Merrick, James Rowe, Mrs. Howard Reece and Calvin Caldwell.

LL&T.

"I would say it was a glorified company," he said, adding that it performed two banking functions.

The firm made loans and got its money from investments listed in passbooks which were issued to the public.

Frank D. Lassiter, chief state bank examiner, said as far as he knows LL&T was never supervised nor were its operations examined.

Ray Liuzza, a New Orleans advertising executive, testified that shortly before his relationship with LL&T ended, he attended a meeting at which his attorney, Bartlett and Gremillion were present.

Liuzza said his attorney asked Gremillion if he was going to attend the meeting in an official capacity. He said the attorney general said no, that he had "just hitched a ride to New Orleans with Bartlett."

Gremillion was a legal advisor to the firm and received a $10,000 legal fee.

Earlier Tuesday, former Gov. James A. Noe testified he was incorrectly listed as president of the firm and member of the LL&T board of directors.

Noe said he had never bought any LL&T stock nor did he ever offer himself to be elected president.

Noe said his name appeared in a newspaper advertisement and Bartlett had written him a letter of apology at Noe's behest.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Rights of the Unborn

There was no doubt that the truck driver was to blame for the collision at a downtown intersection. And there was no doubt that the trucking company was liable for injuries suffered by the expectant mother in the other car. But later, the woman's baby was born blind. Was the trucking company liable for that too?

In a court hearing, the company said a child could not collect damages for something that happened before it was even born. Yet, the court held the company legally responsible for the child's blindness. The judge said:

"There should be a legal right in the newborn child to begin life with a sound body."

This viewpoint, while not universally accepted, is steadily gaining favor—at least, if the accident takes place after the unborn child has become "viable." Courts have decided it is fairer to put some burden on the defendant than to leave the child uncompensated for a real handicap.

However, it is not always clear that the accident truly did cause the child's affliction. In another case, a child was born mentally retarded after his mother had been hit by a careless motorist.

But this time, there was no clear evidence connecting the two events. Refusing to hold the motorist liable, the court said a damage award would have been based "not on facts but on conjecture."

More unusual was the claim brought on behalf of an illegitimate child against his own father, seeking damages for the "shame" of his birth.

But the court saw this as a forerunner of countless lawsuits by disgruntled children against their parents:

"One might seek damages for being born of a certain color, another because of race; one for being born with a hereditary disease, another for inheriting unfortunate family characteristics; one for being born into a large and destitute family, another because a parent has an unsavory reputation."

Fearing to throw open a Pandora's box of litigation, the court decided to turn the claim down.

1971 American Bar Association Paternity Suit Hits Sinatra

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Blood tests of Frank Sinatra Jr., a woman who claims he fathered her child and the year-old infant have been ordered by a Clark County District Court judge.

Carol Sue Edmondston, 28, charged in a paternity suit that the entertainer is the natural father of her son, Victor Randolph, who was born in Chicago last April 20. She requested payment of birth expenses and support for the child until he becomes of age.

The blood tests, ordered Monday, were sought by Sinatra's attorney in an attempt to determine paternity.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Ugly Acne Scars Can Be Removed

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article every day, and I finally have a question. I am 16 years old and have a face full of scars. Can you please tell me how to quickly get rid of ugly scars from squeezing and picking pimples? Please don't tell me to see a doctor because my mother said I messed up my face, therefore it is my problem.

Dear Reader — You really should see a doctor. If you have a lot of pimples or acne in youth, they may produce scars whether you squeeze them or not. It is often difficult to prevent pimples. Soaking with warm water, mild soap and a clean cloth twice a day is helpful. Beyond this I think each person with this problem should see a skin specialist or dermatologist.

If you have scars and no longer have active pimples, then you should see a plastic surgeon who does cosmetic surgery. Regardless of how the scars developed, it is important that you make the most of your appearance. I am not one of those doctors who disapproves of cosmetic surgery; that is silly. Of course, it is to one's advantage to look his best. This is one of several reasons why teeth should be straight and properly aligned.

The mental or psychic health of an individual is often just as important as his physical health. Psychic health is markedly affected by a person's self-image. If a person has an unattractive feature it can cause him to have a serious inferiority complex. Just look at the origin of the term, Napoleonic complex, referring to the fact that short people sometimes become overly aggressive.

Regardless of what has caused the scars on your face, you should see what could be done about it, even if you have to get a part-time job to pay the doctor.

Sometimes the surface of the skin can be removed, leaving a new fresh layer of skin essentially free from scars. It is probably not worth-while to do this, however, unless you have passed the stage of having a lot of active pimples.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Should a pet cat eat off the same plate that one knows he is going to eat from later?

Dear Reader — If the dishes are properly washed, there is no danger. There is probably more danger from any residual food particles not removed by washing. These are reservoirs for the growth of germs, but if all food particles are removed and the dishes are scalded, or washed in a modern dish-washing machine, there is almost no chance of transmitting any disease from pets or people by the dishes.

Actor Takes a New Bride

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actor Rory Calhoun, 48, wed a 29-year-old Los Angeles divorcee in a brief civil ceremony Monday at a Las Vegas chapel.

Calhoun and his wife of 22 years, former actress Lita Baron, were divorced last year after court hearings in which each charged the other with adultery.

REA Express Is Struck in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—About 75 members of the Brotherhood of Railway, Airline and Steamship Clerks have gone on strike against REA Express in Arkansas.

Every year the National Association for Retarded Children sponsors a Christmas Card Design Contest. The winning design is printed up on cards and sold to the public.

Pictured above are Kathy Hill and Jake Haddix, two of the three state winners to be sent to the National Contest. Kathy and Jake are students in the School of Hope, a class for trainable retardates, sponsored by the Hempstead County Association for Retarded Children.

Here is another problem hand from "Popular Bridge." South finds himself in a diamond slam after rebidding three diamonds over his partner's Stayman three clubs. He is sure of his contract if either the spade or diamond finesse works, but he wants to give himself some extra chances.

You can see that the diamond king is singleton, but South cannot and should not play for it.

The correct play is to win the first heart in dummy, lead a heart to his king and ruff his last heart. Then try the diamond finesse. It loses but since the king of diamonds is a singleton, West has to make a losing return. A spade lead takes South's finesse for him. A heart lead allows South to ruff in dummy and discard his jack of spades. After that he takes his two black aces and claims the rest of the tricks on a cross-ruff.

The best defense is for West to lead a club and East to play his nine, but that fails also. South gets rid of one of dummy's spades on that club trick; a second on the ace of clubs and a third one on the fifth club which sets up when the suit divides 4-4.

This is the line of play given by the magazine. It would lose if West's king of diamonds were guarded, but in that case no line of play would bring the slam home.

What do you do now?
A—Bid six spades. Your partner can still go to seven if he has extra values.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding six diamonds your partner has bid six hearts over your five no-trump. What do you do now?

The strike is part of a nationwide effort to keep the REA from rearranging routes in the Northeast.

The strike began at midnight Sunday in New York and spread throughout the system.

Letters

To The Editor

This your newspaper. Write to it. Address letters to: Editor The Star, P.O. Box 648, Hope, Ark. 71801.

All letters must be signed, with address so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address.

Pen-names are permitted when a letter deals only with issues. Direct attacks upon public officials, however, must bear the writer's name for publication.

Thanks From Kiwanis

Editor The Star: To simply say "Thanks" to you and your staff for the wonderful publicity given the Kiwanis Variety Show seems so totally inadequate, but perhaps you can look beyond the mere word and know that the Hope Kiwanis Club and the Public Relations Committee of the club are deeply grateful for your generosity in allowing us the use of your publication for all the Free advertising prior to our annual show.

We realize fully that were it not for your paper and for the time given on KXAR in advertising our show we could not hope to make this annual effort a financial success. I had hoped to be able to report on the net income of our show, but this figure is not yet available.

We have stated before and wish to restate that every dime coming from the show will be used for the Youth Programs of Hope Kiwanis Club and for the Golden Age Club which originated with the Kiwanis Club.

Again on behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Hope let me say, "Many, many Thanks to you and your staff." Most sincerely

Burglary Charge Is Reversed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The conviction and seven-year sentence of James T. Frazier, 35, of North Little Rock on charges of possessing burglary tools and gambling equipment has been reversed by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Frazier and three other men were arrested April 18, 1967, by Sheriff John Davis of White County following a search of their car and trailer at a Bald Knob motel. Davis said he found two pairs of "vice grip" pliers, two electric drills and two pairs of rubber gloves in the trunk of the car and a dice table in the trailer.

The appeals court said the evidence used in Frazier's trial in White County Circuit Court was obtained in an illegal search.
